

LOCKMAN
HOMEBUILDING CO.

Building your dream home is exciting and fun and we, at Lockman Homebuilding, want to partner with you on this venture. Building a new home can also be a stressful and emotional process due to the time and finances involved. However, we offer our knowledge and experience to our clients to provide them with a building process that maintains the excitement and results in a home that we are proud to have built and our clients are eager to live life in.

We believe that your home should be both functional and beautiful, so we work closely with our Architect and Designer to create a home that fits your lifestyle and needs. With Lockman Homebuilding, you have the opportunity to place your trust and your vision in our hands, removing the worry and management of building your new home from your shoulders.

Through our many years of experience working with clients, we have discovered that stress and decision fatigue sets in when making design selections. Therefore, we created our Curated Design Process, where we do all the heavy lifting for you - preparing a complete design package that includes both standard Lockman Homebuilding elements that we proudly include in all our homes as well as special features and finishes unique to your home. The Curated Design Package presents a cohesive and beautifully appointed design for your home including all finishes, fixtures, appliances, and colors. We work with you to find alternatives for items within the Curated Design Package that need amending to fit your vision.

We work diligently to serve our clients with a smooth building process and superior home, and we believe the Curated Design Process plays a key role in our ability to fulfill that commitment to you.
